ELISABETTA ZANGRANDI

Born in 1960 in Verona, Italy; lives and works in Verona, Italy.

Elisabetta Zangrandi is a self-taught painter living in Verona, Italy. From a young age she has painted on any surface available to her – rocks, bottles, wood, plants. Inspired by her love of nature and the sweeping landscape visible from her home, her pictures are colorful worlds of fantasy, often involving princesses and fantastical creatures. Although dissociated from the professional art world, she has long admired the work of Italian Renaissance masters and French Impressionists. Her work has been exhibited at the Outsider Art Fair in New York, the Dallas Art Fair, and at James Barron Art in Kent, Connecticut.
